

November 25, 2008

To Whom It May Concern:

Our company has worked with Mike Kelty, Ken Floody, Laurie Hays and the rest of Ingenii for many years. I have known Mike Kelty and Ken Floody in their prior years before Ingenii when they worked for a large consulting firm.

Over the past years our company has built several Greenfield can manufacturing facilities and has also been doing plant modernizations worldwide. These facilities require equipment foundations and secondary steel structures. Ingenii has been the exclusive structural design consultant we have used for this work with very successful results.

Ingenii understands what is needed on our projects and provides high quality work done in a timely and professional manner. Our company requirements for award of any work is request three bids. Ingenii have been very price competitive and have been able to secure all our major project work. Most recently, in the last four years, Ingenii has provided structural design engineering for our Greenfield beverage can plants in Saigon, Cambodia and Brazil. Plus several plant modernizations in USA.

In conclusion, our experience working with Ingenii over many years has been very good from point of quality, innovation, timeliness and price. We highly recommend them.

Sincerely,

Faroukh Dhunjisha
Director - Project Management & Engineering

FD/gp